The sixth annual Best of Year Awards is underway and the Offset Collection from DuVerre is one of the contenders. The BoY Awards is sponsored by INTERIOR DESIGN MAGAZINE and is the preeminent design competition recognizing superior interior design projects and products in more than 40 categories. BoY winners are selected by architects and interior designers via an online vote and a jury of leading architects and designers.

Voting is taking place now until October 10th at www.boyawards.interiordesign.net. Only architecture, facilities management, and interior design professionals are eligible to vote for Best of Year Product Design finalists. One voting session per person is allowed.

The winners will be honored at a ceremony at the Guggenheim Museum late in the year and also featured in the Interior Design Best of Year Commemorative Book to keepsake the event.
