Du Verre Hardware is proud to unveil their latest collaboration of environmentally-friendly hardware - BOTERO. Designed by the amazing designer and thought leader William Harvey, this new collection is subtly inviting - pleasing to the eye and hand.

Harvey had this to say about his inspiration of the new collection "Designing this collection was a journey I followed as my hands slowly sought the essence of new form. After many days of work, the sinuous, curvaceous and generous forms slowly emerged from hard wax. The forms were then painstakingly honed to a finish that only a dedicated craftsman can achieve. Botero is living form."

"To touch it, is to love it!" Gina Lubin, CEO of Du Verre says. "When I got my first prototypes of the Botero collection in hand, I was so excited. Bill Harvey had shown a sexy, sensuous side of himself that I loved immediately. The curves, the beautifully proportioned shapes work beautifully. I especially like the 17" pull which is just fantastic!"

Crafted entirely from recycled aluminum, BOTERO features a small knob, a large knob (which also makes a great hook), a 4" pull, a 9" pull and a sensational 17" pull. In addition to their well known finishes such as Oil-Rubbed Bronze, Polished Nickel and Satin Nickel, BOTERO is also available in White.
